Missed payments

3.6. Payments not made on schedule will be considered missed payments and your access to the course materials will be revoked until payment is made.

Personal hardship

3.7. If you are unable to continue payments due to a personal hardship, you may request that your program be placed on hold for an agreed upon period. Please note that for our hijama certification course that is delivered live online, course sessions begin on a certain date and you would have to wait until the course is at the point where you left off. Your obligation to pay; however, would resume immediately. Hardship pauses cannot go beyond 120 days and access to all course materials will be removed while your program is on a hardship hold.

If you are in a group program and miss more than one online live session while resolving payment issues or in pending status, you understand that you will be unable to catch up with the class and your student status will be “pending,” until the next training group begins and you can pick up where you left off. If you are in a 1-to-1 or self-study program, your program will be reopened once payment is resolved.

You understand that if you are required to enter pending status, you may remain pending for up to 120 days before you are able to catch up to another training group. While in pending status, you will not have access to your learning platform or any of its contents. If there is not another group training program scheduled within 120 days, on the 121st day you will be placed in self-study mode for the duration of the program. You will still be responsible for the original fees for your original program choice.

3.8. You agree that you will recommence study and payments on the agreed date.

Extension Fee

3.9. Once the coursework for your certification program is complete, you have an additional 7 weeks to complete practical work and submit case studies. If you do not submit case studies by the deadline, an extension fee of $100 will be applied.

3.10. Where students fail to complete their course requirements and do not request an extension and pay the extension fee within 30 days of their original completion date, access to the course will be withdrawn until the situation is resolved.

3.11. Graduation certificates and certifications are issued only when a student's tuition fees are paid in full and they have successfully completed all online quizzes, exams, and assessments, as well as having attended the in-person hands-on training and passed the practical assessment, completed 20 client sessions, and submitted case studies. In addition, the student must have also completed the Healthcare CPR First Aid, Bloodborne Pathogens, and HIPAA Certification courses.
